CRYOGENIC LEATHER GLOVES SIZE:10.5"

Leather cryogenic gloves have been designed for use in demanding environments, where high abrasion resistance is required in a cryogenic glove. These gloves offer a higher level of protection from ultra-cold temperatures than industrial cryogenic gloves.

The outer is made from hardwearing leather, the palm & thumb areas are manufactured from an extremely tough & abrasion resistant leather.

Leather cryogenic gloves can be used for temperature down to -250degrees Celsius for handling all types of materials and carrying out specialized tasks.
